MESSAGE FROM THE CEO

“Thank you for giving consideration to the support of the Saskatchewan Safety Council by way of Donation, Partnership or Program Sponsorship.

Guided by a Board of Directors and a set of strategic priorities, the Council continues to invest in and develop ground breaking programming for high risk areas to remove the barriers of affordability and accessibility to safety education.

As a non-profit and charity, it is only with your financial support that we can continue to invest in efforts to change our provincial culture to one in which every choice is a safe choice.

With your assistance, we will continue to educate and inform the residents of Saskatchewan on the possibilities of enhancing their lives through making safe choices regardless of their financial capacity, geographic location, or chosen career path. We will also continue to build upon the success of our existing support-driven programs (each of which is described within this document) as well as continue to research and develop innovative new resources.

In the true spirit of partnership, we make every effort to publicly display our appreciation for your support through our significant online presence and variety of social media channels in addition to the traditional physical logo placements on signage and in presentations. We are open to your suggestions and ideas as to how we can further enhance the way we work together with you.

On behalf of our members, staff, and all those at the Council who contribute their time and effort towards achieving a safe Saskatchewan, I thank you for your consideration and support.”

Chief Executive Officer
WAYS TO SUPPORT

Safety equals happiness. Being safe is a practice developed through a series of experiences which resonate. Some of those experiences come in the form of training while others are just through the adoption into a safe culture.

Support of a Saskatchewan Safety Council program or event is a great way to engage with and gain positive exposure within your community and in front of potential customers. Helping provide education and supporting safety-related initiatives reflects well on your organization.

The association of your business with the experience of becoming safer is a great way to indicate the safety culture of your organization. This can serve to attract and retain employees as it earns the respect of the families of staff.

Being seen as an organization that aligns with those who can assist in helping others be safe shows that your business cares enough about safety to reinvest in the delivery of safety programs throughout your community.

Those individuals who are directly involved in safety roles within a business share their views daily. Sponsoring safety-related training and initiatives is an indication of how the organization as a whole views the importance of safety.

Our partner and sponsorship packages provide a return on investment, in the form of promotional reach and impressions, that extends well beyond the program participants to include visitors to our website, readers of our blog, and those engaged with us on our Facebook, Twitter, LinkedIn and YouTube properties.

SKID SMART COLLISION AVOIDANCE TRAINING

If you drive in winter, you want to take this program. If you know someone who drives in winter, you want them to take this program. The Saskatchewan Safety Council’s Skid Smart Collision Avoidance course provides information and hands-on experience in maneuvering a vehicle in extreme conditions while in a controlled environment. Focused mainly on winter conditions, this course enhances the participant’s knowledge of situations which may cause a skid and teaches the decision making abilities and skills required to recover control of a vehicle which has entered an uncontrolled skid.

The first part of the course takes place in a facilitated learning environment where general theory and techniques are discussed. The second portion is a one of a kind hands-on practical experience where participants apply the techniques discussed. The practical portion takes place in our custom designed outdoor ice skid pad.

Visibility

The Skid Smart participant demographic is broad with courses being delivered to people of all adult ages and employed in all forms of businesses in which vehicles are heavily relied upon. From individuals, small business proprietors, employees, managers and executives with large private businesses and crown corporations, the roles and decision making responsibilities present in these sessions vary greatly.

MATURE DRIVER REFRESHER COURSE

Traffic incident prevention is and has always been a priority for the Safety Council. Thanks to sponsorships, we continue to offer our Mature Driver Refresher Course (previously known as 55 Alive) completely free of charge to those 55 years of age and older who wish to enroll thanks to sponsorships.

Visibility

The Saskatchewan Safety Council is currently partnering with community associations in an effort to deliver this program to convenient locations throughout southern Saskatchewan as well as delivering the program in our own training facility.

Participants are typically 55 years of age and over. However, the impact of this program is felt by everyone including the families and loved ones of those who take the course.

This course helps to broaden the participant’s independence by helping them travel around their communities in a safer way. It may also reduce the burden placed on family members who may be relied upon for their transportation or relieve some of the stresses that come with every time they get behind the wheel.

MOTORCYCLE SAFETY TRAINING

For 40 years, the Saskatchewan Safety Council has been delivering motorcycle-related programming in the province. Although always focused on safe riding, programs have evolved to meet the demands of the riding community. Taught by experienced certified instructors at the best bike training facility in the country, we now also offer Experienced Rider Training which provides participants a chance to learn a more advanced set of riding skills.

Visibility

The motorcycle community is a tight-knit one. Motorcyclists talk and recommendations resonate. Although the demographic of participants in our motorcycle programs vary as much as the styles of motorcycles, there is no such thing as a "typical" student. That said, there are two well represented groups:

1) The new young riders between the ages of 16 and 24
2) The bucket list riders with new disposable income

38% of participants are female.

EARLY SAFETY TRAINING PROGRAM

Founded in 1996, the Early Safety Training Program (ESTP) is a youth safety education strategy provided by the Saskatchewan Safety Council in partnership with WorkSafe Saskatchewan. The program is focused on the removal of barriers to youth accessing safety training so that they may develop safety habits and attitudes to apply throughout their entire lifetime, both on and off the job. ESTP operates with the guidance of a provincial steering committee consisting of representation by the seven industry safety associations, private industry stakeholders, education champions, and WorkSafe.

The program consists of three primary methods of delivery targeting youth aged 14-21 that each help reduce the barriers of accessibility and affordability:

1. The self-study bursary program;
2. Classroom curricula fitted format (offered during regular school classes); and
3. The Next Generation Early Safety Training Boot Camps (offered outside of regular classes on weekends or after school)

Using any method, youth receive industry recognized safety certification that will enhance their job readiness capability. ESTP offers knowledge at a critical point in their lives that will help them stay safe throughout their lifetime. In each method, youth must complete a number of safety training courses that are widely recognized by Saskatchewan employers. To complete the program, youth must complete three mandatory courses (Young Worker Readiness Certificate course, Workplace Hazardous Materials Information System or WHMIS, First Aid/CPR B with AED and one industry-focussed elective course).

Visibility

Your sponsorship of ESTP has the potential to benefit your organization in several ways:

- Raise your profile in the community (Community Relations Strategy)
- Attract new employees (Recruitment Strategy)
- Benefit of employment (Employee Family Benefit Strategy)

If you are a company committed to safety and want a way to give back to your employees and your community, sponsor a Next Generation Boot Camp for the children of your most valuable asset - the people who work for you and live in your community.
