Retail Loss Prevention - Tony Hunt

Many retail businesses and their retail front-line workers have been dealing with increases in crime and workplace violence leading up to, and through, the pandemic. Tony Hunt, with London Drugs, will share some experience and best practices on how to reduce loss incidents and address workplace violence involving members of the public in retail stores.

About the Speaker:

Tony Hunt is the General Manager of Loss Prevention for London Drugs Limited. Tony is a board-certified security professional, licensed security consultant, private investigator, and he has spent 35 years working in or consulting-to large and small business on Loss Prevention, Security, Investigations, Emergency Management, Business Continuity and Enterprise Security Risk Management.

In addition to his role at London Drugs, he is also responsible for the security programs within some affiliated companies. Tony is the Director of Security for London Air Services and London Aviation Centre, and the Director of Security for Sonora Resort and Conference Centre.

Tony keeps in touch with the industry by attending and speaking at conferences of industry organizations. (Canadian Association of Chiefs of Police, International Association of Financial Crime Investigators, Professional Investigators Association of British Columbia, Saskatchewan Safety Council, Association of Certified Fraud Examiners and the American Society for Industrial Security.)
